Upcoming Webinar Highlights Substance Use Treatment and Recovery Supports for People with Justice Involvement

Behavioral health, court and corrections stakeholders all have a role in connecting people with substance use disorders and co-occurring mental illness to treatment and recovery supports in jails and the community.

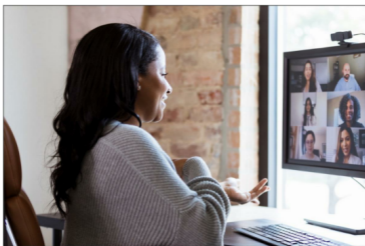

During this webinar, guest speakers representing the judiciary and the Texas Health and Human Services Commission (HHSC) Adult, Crisis and Forensic Mental Health Services, Texas Targeted Opioid Response, and Peer Support and Recovery units will share information on program supports for people with behavioral health needs who are justice-involved. Participants will head the valuable and varied perspectives of people with lived experience to further inform considerations for enhancing recovery supports before, during and after incarceration. .

Join the webinar from noon to 1:30 p.m. on Oct. 25. A companion resource will be shared to complement the information discussed during the event.
